Living in the 'Vestiges' of What Was a Republic

If you've watched Kubrick's, "Full Metal Jacket" or personally experienced 'Camp Pendleton', Marine Corps boot camp, you know that 'basic training' is intended to wipe clean the personality of a young man and re-program him to follow orders as a soldier.

As Americans become aware that our nation, since WW2, is not the bastion of freedom we assumed, instead something corrupted by evil elites through agencies such as the CIA, we begin to see how propaganda compromised each of us in a 'vestigial' way.

For any not acquainted with the word 'vestige', think of it as the thing that remains after something has degenerated/atrophied. Then apply that to what this nation used to be and might have continued to be, before decades of incremental evil took hold of us.

Consider it in terms of the 'trans' movement, something unknown a sort time ago, that has become pervasive, focusing on kids. Were 'trans' a smallish sliver of population, confused about gender, seeking equal rights under the law, only the banal could object. Instead, 'trans' is tied to another agenda—'diversity, equality, and inclusion'.

'Trans' is purposed to conduct a boot camp ethos on each of us. Since trans don't identify with 1 of 2 genders, they don't want to be referred to as him or her. Okay, if that's where they're at, I'll simply call them by their name. But that doesn't work either, because, birth names often identify someone as male/female and 'trans' object to that.

Out of common decency, if they concoct a new name, I'll use that but this is where it gets interesting. A local mother of one such person, when that person is not present, refers to that person (can't say per'son'), by a shortened birth name, or as 'they'. And, it is expected that others honor/participate—as a social 'code of conduct' requirement.

It gets worse when we realize this is a 1st step in a process to degrade us to 'vestiges' of what we once were—that the objective has moved beyond a 1st step, eliciting compassion to a 'weaponization of compassion'—where social compliance is required.

'Gender fluid' individuals require they be referred to by non-sexual pronouns, namely, 'they'. The 3rd person singular, 'it', is objectionable to those outside of gender mainstream, and they don't want to be referred to as 'it'. But, the use of 'they' is a confusing grammatical error. "They are coming north." Who's coming north? Gimme a break.

They begin with a request that we use their pronoun, leading to a 2nd step: 'social compliance'. In Europe (even with a Constitution/Rights), a 3rd step has been taken—crossing the line from choice to dictate. There, not using 'preferred pronouns' is subject to criminal prosecution. So what makes us (Americans) safe as DEI unfolds at home?

In my last article I described various elite mechanisms, as a confluence intended to achieve total control. The 'trans' movement' is 1 of them—used to strip away our 'inalienable right' to free speech (even thought crimes matter), in a push for compliance.

When established narrative propaganda takes only small bites, like a mosquito/tick, it goes unrecognized as another nuisance, but, when West Nile/Lime become part of the conversation, we then see the peril—wherein many of us are already beyond hope.

Consider the CIA and Homeland Security. The CIA was intended, (under Truman who didn't want it to exist), to provide the president with a daily briefing of global intelligence. It had nothing to do with domestic politics. But, under power hungry perpetrators, such as Dulles brothers, Americans were added to the list of 'persons of interest'.

To the point we expect the FBI or ATF to show up at our door with casual questions about firearms we possess, or a post we made online about election fraud, or Biden family criminality. In the 60's, Americans would have hit the streets in political protest.

In 1971, Hunter Thompson reacted with his drug-addled novel, "Fear and Loathing in Las Vegas", to a Nixon presidency of gross, war overreach, by taking on the American justice system, depicting them for the wicked idiots they were. In a single paragraph, he best described what happened to the 'peace movement' of the 60's. "We had the momentum; we were riding the crest of a high and beautiful wave... So now, less than five years later, you can go up on a steep hill in Las Vegas and look West, and with the right kind of eyes you can almost see the high-water mark... that place where the wave finally broke and rolled." The 60's didn't reach Vegas. Now there's is no anti-war wave.

I write 2 kinds of pieces, foreign and domestic, but the line between them has blurred. Attacks on Donald Trump as an 'insurrectionist' are bullshit—along with denial of election fraud, with an orchestrated January 6th, each intended to criminalize Americans—those who Thompson described as 'with the right kind of eyes'—questioners.

Foreign actors such as the UN/WHO have infiltrated our nation for their own purposes. One such entity, 'The American Israel Public Affairs Committee' (AIPAC), lobbies Congress directly—something only a 'twisted/evil' constitutional rendering could allow.

AIPAC is the reason Netanyahu can openly declare that Israel controls the US, because, with pervasive immunity to criticism, AIPAC supports candidates through huge contributions, and puts fear of god in others (unacceptable to AIPAC), with contributions to primary opponents that far outweigh any possible fund-raising by incumbents.

AIPAC lobbies for laws that would make criticism of Israeli foreign policy illegal. And, in support, the US Supreme Court has refused to hear cases challenging 35 states that disallow boycotts of Israel. US legislators/corporations are disallowed to censure Israel.

Only drug companies have immunity? Don't you believe it. US news sources report abject lies about happenings in Gaza—lies debunked even in the Israeli press. If this comes as news to you, you missed the Israeli UN foreign minister 'shrieking-out' at criticism. How can this be? Israel, like Pfizer, is above the law, demanding our allegiance.

And it doesn't stop with Israel. US reporting about the war in Ukraine is 'a mess of lies'—far outside the bounds of reality. American liars tell us Russia has lost 70% of its military in UKR—lies that end on the day Ukrainians hang Zelensky for his 'stand and fight to the death of UKR children'—his impersonation of Hitler's last-gasp battle tactic.

Attacks on our 'rights' intend to make a 'vestige' of our heritage. We gotta stop them.
