updates on the insane world of money and power

"Who is This Man? Take Him Out and Shoot Him"

Uttered by Orson Wells as General Dredge, Catch-22. I indemnity myself from incitement charges with what was whispered by his wimpy, adjutant son: "Dad, you can't do that." I can't take them out because of 2 rules I live by: keep your word, without egressing on another person's liberty or property. I have to wait until they come for me/ mine.

But I fear others won't wait. When the guy on the street recognizes he can't feed his family because of US Foreign Policy, or the guy in Kansas concludes that a 'bio-weapon, financed and planned within our government, took his loved ones under a barrage of lies. Or, we find ourselves in self-induced nuclear war because of Ukraine/ Palestine. Or, Americans freeze with no fossil fuels/alternatives. Elites will not be safe.

When the US becomes a French Revolution X100, and the heads roll, who's head will it be? Who knowingly allowed things to happen that took human lives and dignity. The list is long. Only 'just rewards' and mob vengeance will sum-up the final tally.

I hadn't been sick for 5 years. Thought I was immune from Covid because I was smashed by SARS 1—way back. Assuming immunity. I attended a 'super-spreader' wedding in San Clemente. I don't fly so it involved a 1800 mile drive. On the trip, a call from my son who needed his 'best man' garb early the next day—resulting in an all-night drive from Death Valley—followed by 2 sleepless nights interrupted by snoring.

As fortune would have it, both groom and bride were fighting off a virus, and as I headed up I-5, came symptoms for some variant that Anthony Fauci gave to the world?

When you reach into your 8th decade, you know there isn't much left. Besieged by liars such as Fauci, who allegedly had our demise as part of a bio-weapon plan, any hope of gleaning a few more turns around the sun—we best take stock of the realities.

When one is sick/fevered, one is able to hate properly. Taking a stroll down memory lane to celebrate Fauci, I saw him clearly as a 'little sack of shit'—now and forever. His highlight being posted by the FDA, in August 2021: "You are not a horse. You are not a cow. Seriously, y'all—stop it." A couple of things about that: Health regulators have no business interfering with a physician's' right to prescribe, especially concerning drugs such as ivermectin/hydroxychloroquine. Each being a widely used—on-patent drug.

Health regulators have no role in recommending what physicians prescribe. But, for profit/power, they did it, and in the week following the folksy putdown, 'y'all', they 1st removed ivermectin from hospital then private pharmacies. Does that rise to murder?

At the time there were many peer-reviewed studies on each of the drugs, as efficacious in treatment of Covid—but it didn't matter because this was about money/power.

Not all of us know that the heads of 3 major medical journals quit, so as to be able to write about the lies and travesty that was being perpetrated on the global population. What came out of that is a fact-based stat: half of what is in those journals is not true.

What is the mandate for 'health regulators': to protect healthcare consumers from health risks, provide a safe working environment for healthcare professionals, and ensure that public health and welfare are served by health programs. Where in that do we find those agencies sharing in the profits from patents? And from where are they able to perpetuate lies that they are the ones who control what physicians can and can't do?

What Fauci/regulators have done is to interfere with the practice of medicine. When brought to scrutiny that constitutes a crime. Not only drugs but common vitamins came under attack. One comprehensive study compiled by John's Hopkins, found that no one, with a minimum level of D3 (without co-morbidities), would have died from Covid.

Now, health is but a single axle of a 10/20 wheel drive—each capable of destroying life as we know it. Any respite of calm in calamitous weather is the 'eye of a storm', yet to bring its devastation. Wherever we look, it gets worse. Whether it be our Southern border, dead aid workers, or a Russian concert for kids. Our Southern border has to stay open as Joe's only hope. Aid workers had to be attacked over 2 kilometers, involving chain of command/multiple drone strikes. Russian kids? Might that be classic CIA?

Netanyahu needs Iranian missiles to rain down on Israel as he needs to get the US involved. If he doesn't prevail, like Joe Biden he could receive justice/'taken out back'?

There are impassible ruts on the road ahead. Can they be negotiated or are we now entered into the area of 'quandary' where no solutions are apparent? The magnitude of problems is a reminder we are dealing with idiots. Never in the annals of human diplomacy have such a pack of idiots shared a stage. As in, with Ukraine in ruins, Secretary Blinken forges the path ahead for its NATO membership. Does that not define insanity?

Do idiots even know what the others are doing? Nuland, just before leaving, let Putin (everybody), know he was in for some bad surprises. Was she letting on she knew about the Moscow Massacre? Or worse, did she set something in motion as a parting gift? A question arises, recalling 2014, when she set in motion—Ukraine's destruction.

What the US has become is apparent listening to John Kirby, spokesperson for Joe Biden, answer questions about US transgressions against allies/enemies while ducking feeble jabs around Israel's non violations over the last 5 months. I see a soulless man who doesn't see a line between lies and truth—allowing for total hubris/condescension.

There many more 'axels of evil' to examine for cracks, and there will, God willing, be other opportunities for articles. But I would be remise to not offer some speculation on gold and silver. Each time I check Kitco, gold reaches a new high. Oddly, after being so interested for decades, now its become 'old hat'? What is it that gold is trying to tell us?

Gold is the stodgy measure of all things financial. It's not Bitcoin with its volatility of youth and grand fluctuations that can happen because it is 1/10th the size of the gold market. Gold is not silver, with a dual function: 'poor boy money' and vital commodity.

For those of us who follow gold, we are aware there is little evidence in the charts for gold to keep rising, without correction. Maybe soon gold corrects, but more importantly, all these new highs signal trouble ahead—incalculable quandaries with no apparent fix.
