

Brainwashed, Screwed-Up By The British Education System That Still Persists Today

By Matthias Chang – Future Fast-Forward

There are so many issues and examples that I can narrate to justify why Malaysians are so brainwashed, screwed-up and subservient to the so-called Western civilisation, to the exclusion and ignorance of other civilisations, that had we known, we (Malaysians) would not be arse-lickers to the Western imperial / colonial powers and so intellectually retarded since our Independence in 1957.

Hence, my secret and confidential communication to the then Prime Minister, YAB Dato Seri, Dr. Mahathir Mohamad that I would be establishing a Library cum Foundation as a repository of the wisdom of our prime ministers (past and future) and a centre of excellence for research, aptly called the Perdana Leadership Foundation for future generations, so that they can be detoxified from the pernicious brainwashing by the British colonial powers. I will say no more for now unless

Cutting to the Chase

The pain is so deep, that we do not even know that the Al-Qarawiyyin library in Fez, Morocco, is the world's oldest, continuously running library. It dates back to 859 AD. The library is part of the complex that includes the Qarawiyyin Mosque.

Now do you understand why I did what I did, as the Political Secretary to the then Prime Minister – to set up a Library cum Foundation?

Malaysians frequently visit “Mother England” (as we are taught to refer to UK during colonial rule) and shop and shop but never ever visit the British Library and or the British Museum that exhibit the plunders of their conquests and subjugation of the peoples throughout the British Empire. The Maharajas of India gave up their Kingdoms in exchange for the title “Princes of the British Empire”. How f#@k up can these kings aspire to be after been reduced to mere princes and have no say over the people of India?

Thoroughly brainwashed!

And we screamed that we are so superior and so civilized, replicating the British propaganda ploy when jostling for pseudo power, when we still have to consult Whitehall in more ways than one!

We may have heard of the great Library in Alexandria, but we know next to nothing. Zilch!

Wikipedia explains that “the Library of Alexandria was not the first library of its kind. A long tradition of libraries existed in the ancient Near East. The earliest recorded archive of written materials comes from the ancient Sumerian city-state of Uruk in around 3400 BC, when writing had only just begun to develop. Scholarly curation of literary texts began in around 2500 BC. The later kingdoms and empires of the ancient Near East had long traditions of book collecting. The ancient Hittites and Assyrians had massive archives containing records written in many different languages. The most famous library of the ancient Near East was the Library of Ashurbanipal in Nineveh, founded in the seventh century BC by the Assyrian King Ashurbanipal (ruled 668–c. 627 BC). A large library also existed in Babylon during the reign of Nebuchadnezzar II (c. 605–c. 562 BC). Libraries enhanced a city's prestige, attracted scholars, and provided practical assistance in ruling and governing the kingdom. Egypt was the ideal habitat for the papyrus plant, which provided an abundant supply of materials needed to amass their knowledge repository.”

The Alexandria Library is not the first library in the world.

The distinction goes to the Library of Ashurbanipal. It is the world's oldest known library and was founded sometime in the 7th century B.C. for the “royal contemplation” of the Assyrian ruler Ashurbanipal. Located in Nineveh in modern-day Iraq, the site included a trove of some 30,000 cuneiform tablets organized according to subject matter.

When the US war criminals invaded Iraq, armed marines were posted to guard the oil fields etc. but the uncivilized thugs destroyed and or stole all the ancient artefacts and relics and shipped them back to the US to be auctioned to private collectors under the direct orders of the criminal Paul Bremer.

There is so much more to write about. Do your research and contribute.

British Use of the Christian Religion to Distort and Confuse

Catholics and Christians are totally unaware that the Pope uses the Bible “Nova Vulgata”, a revision of the Vulgate that was promulgated in 1979 as the “standard” by Pope John Paul II.

The Nova Vulgata, (Nova Vulgata Bibliorum Sacrorum Editio, - The New Vulgate Edition of the Holy Bible; abr. NV) is the Catholic Church's official Latin translation of the original-language texts of the Bible published by the Holy See. The Vulgate is the original Latin translation of the books of the Bible as done by St. Jerome in the 4th Century. It was then updated in 1592 and is still an approved Bible widely used in the Catholic Church.

In 1991, an imprimatur was issued by the United States Conference of Catholic Bishops and the Canadian Conference of Catholic Bishops that The New Revised Standard Version, Catholic Edition (NRSV-CE) is a Bible translation approved for use by the Catholic Church.

The English Translations of the Bible

The Geneva Bible is one of the most historically significant translations of the Bible into English, preceding the Douay Rheims Bible by 22 years, and the King James Version by 51 years.

The King James Version of the Bible was not the first English language version of the Bible, but the culmination of extensive translation activity in the 1500s. This began with the work of William Tyndale and the printing of the first English New Testament in 1526.

However, during the colonial times and thereafter, King James Version (KJV), English translation of the Bible, published in 1611 under the auspices of King James I of England, was accepted as the “standard” English Bible from the mid-17th to the early 20th century.

No Christians, and for that matter historians have asked,

“If Jesus spoke Aramaic, a semitic language originating in Euphrates and later spread to Syria and Mesopotamia, why are there no translations of the Bible from Aramaic to other languages?”

Is this not strange when even Egyptian hieroglyphics can be translated?

But, how many Catholics or Christians in general in Malaysia are aware of the confusion and duplicity by the British colonial powers?

Then, we saw the proliferation of Catholic, Baptist, Lutheran, Methodists etc. churches and schools throughout the country. A classic divide and rule at the religious level!

Given the above confusion and duplicity created by the British education system on such a fundamental issue – that of religious beliefs, the $Trillion question must be posed,

“Who can we really trust?”

Therefore, we must strive to know the truth and research thoroughly. Why debate and argue on reforming the Malaysian education system when the starting point is in a shambles. I have not even begun to explore and expose the confusion and duplicity permeating the other Faiths.
