

The Infrastructure Of Money – Why I Cry For Malaysia And The Suicidal Destruction Of My Majority Brothers and Sisters - the Backbone Of My Country

By Matthias Chang – Future Fast-Forward

It took decades and learning, back-breaking hard work and catching up, to build a united and prosperous nation. But, it will be mere months or less to destroy any country, especially my beloved country.

I cry for my country, Malaysia!

Let me tell you why.

Demonised, hate, denounced and f@#k Matthias any which way (in any language as well) but you cannot hide and or escape the cruel and painful truth, as there is LITERALLY no Malaysian who care enough to tell this ugly truth because all our political leaders and YOU are hell bent to foster their / your selfish interests by promoting irrelevant and non-issues. You know what these issues are.

These scumbags (and you - if the hat fits you) are scared shit by this grotesque failing, this inadequacy etc. but if they know that they will burn in a sea of sulphur for not even knowing this ugly truth they will suffer a massive HEART attack (literally or otherwise).

THE INFRASTRUCTURE OF MONEY

The reason you have not heard of this terminology before reading this article, is because I invented this terminology to make you understand this f#@k up truth that YOU do not have the faintest idea what this terminology (the “Infrastructure of Money”) means.

You have an understanding and an amateur appreciation of:

- The use of money;
- The payment system, a little, because you buy and sell locally;
- The local currency, the Ringgit;
- The banking system, because you have a bank account;
- We have a Central Bank (Bank Negara) and Commercial Banks;
- Term Loans and Overdrafts etc.;
- Savings, Fixed Deposits etc.;
- Monetary instruments etc.; and
- Payment of imports and exports etc.

99% of Malaysians do not know how “money” (note: the word is within quotation marks) is created. That is another story for a later article.

The word “infrastructure” has been defined by the Cambridge Dictionary as follows:

“... the basic systems and services, such as transport and power supplies, that a country or organization uses in order to work effectively:

“The war has badly damaged the country's infrastructure.

“Few examples:

- It is a long-term task to rebuild the infrastructure of a war-torn country such as Angola.*
- The industry was accused of having invested little in workers, plant or infrastructure.*
- The minister is responsible for the country's transport infrastructure.”*

All or most of you are familiar with this meaning as defined above. Now apply the structure / meaning of the word to money / currency.

So, now you have a vague idea of the INFRASTRUCTURE of MONEY. Good!

We shall now proceed to a discussion on the essence of my article.

Historic Systems of Payment

Historically, the BARTER infrastructure of trade (in the widest sense) was foundational until it was replaced by the “MONEY / CURRENCY” infrastructures (i.e. precious metals, coins, tally sticks etc.).

The crux of our understanding is that people needed a “convenient” and “trustworthy” system for the “medium of exchange” the technical / financial expression for the common man’s lingo, the payment system!

Fast Forward

We now have a “Global Reserve Currency” denominated in the US$.

We also have a global system of payment anchored on the “SWIFT”. Google Search shows that the:

“SWIFT payments are transactions made through an intermediary bank that allows you to send/receive electronic payments internationally. The SWIFT network doesn't actually transfer funds, nor is it a banking system rather, it sends payment orders between banks using SWIFT codes.”

You and I have to pay “banking charges” and “fluctuating exchange rates” for any monetary transfers such as:

- What you have to execute when you want to send money to your children studying abroad.

- Ditto for payment for imports for goods and services.

And we pay usually in US$ or English Pound Sterling (£) and convert our Ringgit to the US$ or English £.

We are therefore, for all intent and purposes, monetary slaves to the current global Infrastructure of Money entrenched in the US$ global reserve currency but, previously under British colonial rule, her £ system of payment.

Presently, in a limited way, Malaysia has been allowed to “trade” using her national currency or the importing nation’s currency e.g. Chinese Yuan.

A Minor Digression

I have been saying for decades that “when the majority dies (by whatever means or reasons) the minorities will also die. When the minority dies, the majority will surely die, but more slowly.” Therefore, I am crying for my country.

Cutting Back To The Chase

I am not writing a thesis, but issuing a grave warning. Pay attention!

There is now a death and life struggle between Two Global Competing Infrastructures of Money (payment systems). Even President Donald Trump and the USA will not be allowed by the Global Real Powers, to co-exist with any competing Monetary Infrastructure. There can be no political suicide by the Zionist Anglo-American Hegemon. This is a given. Period!

The Hot and Cold World War IV has already begun!

The currency of a country personifies and or represents the real POLITICAL POWER of the RULING ENTITY.

Are Malaysians that stupid and so dumb that they cannot see danger staring at their faces?

Yes, we are that stupid and dumb. What I have exposed is only the tip of the monetary iceberg! We are a ship heading towards the iceberg!

Think and think!

To illustrate - we used to pay our purchasers at Amazons with US$, but now we can (an option) also pay in ringgit but the exchange rate is under Amazon’s control. And I am not counting other costs.

I cry for my country!

When the Ringgit is destroyed, the political power in the country will be destroyed and we are so clueless. And I am saying, even as a minority, because my country comes first!

I care not, especially whether you hate or like Tun Mahathir Mohamad, Dato Seri Anwar Ibrahim, Tan Sri Muhyiddin Yassin or other political leaders. This is a luxury I cannot afford - to lie or dislike, to support or not.

There are simple solutions. But no one is willing to resolve the issues because it entails the political elites having to ACCEPT their ignorance and mistakes which they are not willing to do so.

The policies proclaimed thus far, since October, 2003, have not and will not address this suicidal issue.

Malaysia does not have a solution to the “Infrastructure of Money” issue. I have the solution!

Political Egos and Grandstanding will be our downfall!

Need I say more, when this issue has never been addressed?
